

Jennifer M. Stukey, LPN – Alaska
Chief Operating Officer / Corporate Compliance Officer - Narcotic Drug Treatment Center, Inc.
Alaska's AATOD Board Delegate

For over 22 years, Jennifer Stukey has played a transformative role in the field of addiction treatment, from directly dispensing methadone to becoming a powerful voice for individuals facing stigma due to their substance use disorder and participation in Medication Assisted Treatment (MAT). Now serving as Chief Operating Officer, her leadership has profoundly shaped the lives of countless patients and reinforced the mission of Narcotic Drug Treatment Center, Inc. Ms. Stukey developed and implemented operational strategies that strengthened clinical outcomes, enhanced patient engagement, and expanded access to life-saving services for historically marginalized populations. Additionally, she has actively supported other nonprofit organizations across Alaska in expanding access to MAT.

A respected advocate at both the state and national levels, Ms. Stukey has supported policy reforms to improve transportation access for those seeking treatment and has remained a consistent voice in the fight against stigma. Most notably, she founded the Alaska chapter of the American Association for the Treatment of Opioid Dependence (AATOD), further cementing her impact and commitment to the field. Her leadership is deeply rooted in compassion and purpose. Ms. Stukey consistently emphasizes the importance of accessible care and upholds the belief that every individual, especially those struggling with opioid use disorder, deserves dignity and respect.
